

NR BP

National Review of Black Politics is the successor of the National Political Science Review (ISSN 0896-629X), published continually by the National Conference of Black Political Scientists from 1989 to 2019. For more information about the National Political Science Review, please contact the National Conference of Black Political Scientists.

Editorial Team

Editors

Pearl K. Dowe, Emory University

Andra Gillespie, Emory University

Book Review Editor

Shenita Brazelton, Georgia State University

Editorial Advisory Board

H. Antwain Leach, Fisk University

Lisa Aubrey, Arizona State University

Ray Block, University of Kentucky

Niambi Carter, Howard University

Danielle Clealand, Florida International University

David Covin, California State University, Sacramento

Michael Fauntroy, Howard University

Lorrie Frasure, University of California, Los Angeles

Mai Hassan, University of Michigan

Vincent Hutchings, University of Michigan

Shelby F. Lewis, African Renaissance and Diaspora Network Board

Marion Orr, Brown University

Dianne Pinderhughes, University of Notre Dame

Albert Samuels, Southern University

Salmon Shomade, Emory University

Christopher Stout, Oregon State University

Darryl Thomas, Pennsylvania State University

Alvin Tillery, Northwestern University

The journal welcomes original submissions. Authors should review the journal's author guidelines prior to submission. Please direct all editorial inquiries to NRBP_editors@ucpress.edu.